Series of Fires Puzzle to Police

Grass fires don't start by themselves on damp and foggy nights. Nor do five roadside fires along a highway begin from one carelessly flung cigarette.

Carmel has just had a series of mysterious fires and the police are investigating on suspicion of arson.

Two of the grass fires were near the Peninsula Community Hospital in an area which in the past year has been prone to such fires. The latest of these was found burning on both sides of the roadway on the border of the city of Carmel. At the time a heavy "weeping" fog covered paved streets with enough water to run and grass and brush were definitely damp instead of tinder dry.

One fire on north Dolores last weekend might have been accidental, especially because it occurred during the heat of a dry, clear day. Firemen quickly subdued this.

Five mysterious fires along the Carmel Valley highway on the Hatton ranch first threw the light of suspicion on the grass fire situation. These were along one side of the road and only because of quick action of the State fire crew under Foreman All Walls failed to blacken acres of beautiful pine timber.

Owners of the ranch are reported to have no enemies who might have started such fires. (Long ago Robert Louis Stevenson, during his brief but highly romanced stay on the peninsula, started a first-class forest fire on Huckleberry Hill by lighting pieces of Spanish moss "to see if they would burn." They did.)

A fire about 3 a. m. Tuesday morning on Carmelo street near Seventh was the latest of the series of grass fires. No reason for the blaze was discovered, but firemen openly mentioned the possibility of a "firebug."

Police Commissioner Frederick R. Bechdolt and officers of the Carmel department expressed belief an arrest was imminent in connection with the series of fires.

to the occasion is much sought. Anyone as yet undiscovered who might fill the part should apply at once to By Ford, before he goes on safari with an elephant gun and a telescope for someone to play the part of "Tom."

Here's the cast:

Barbara, Mrs. Alex George.

Percy, Lloyd Weer, light comedy role.

Billy, Spud Gray, a second-rate hooper.

Tilly, Betty Carr, ambitious to be a dancer.

Mrs. Hettie Smith, Marion Todd, an ambitious matron.

Mabel, Marjorie Davis, her daughter.

Bumbledon, Bob Bratt, comedy lawyer.

Tom, the hero.

Girls of Billy's dancing troupe: Rosanne Sprinkle, Carol Canoles, Meta Gossler, Beverly Leidig, Doris Evans, Virginia Brady, Norma Prince—all 15-year-olds, a regular "Texan Guinan chorus", Ford declares.

The "play with music" will be in three acts with a single set. The place is Pebble Beach and the time the present. The authors, Masten and Ford, stress that "Where There's a Will" is essentially a play, with lyrics and music, of which there are 12 numbers.

Masten did the lyrics and William Pierce the music.

Those who will assist in the production are: Kay Knudsen, lights, assisted by Bill Nye; Ruth Austin, dance choreography and costumes; Bill Pierce, musical arrangements and orchestration; Kit Whitman, business manager; Hildreth Masten, properties.

"Where There's a Will" should enliven the early fall season after a summer season in which dramatic productions in Carmel have been notable by their absence.

Earl Frederick Smith, Jr., 19-year-old son of E. Frederick Smith of Carmel, the "Plantsmith," has completed preliminary training at the naval station at San Diego and will attend electrical ordnance school for four months. He enlisted May 12 of this year. At the end of school, he will be assigned to sea duty.

Carmel Art Association to Report Highly Successful Year on Monday

By FRANCIS L. LLOYD

The Carmel Art Association has had a bumper year from every point of view. This will be reported at next Monday morning's annual meeting at 10 o'clock.

In this year the fine new gallery has been completed under the direction of Clay Otto, and, what is just as important, has been entirely paid for with as much as $10 being left over.

This is an almost unique position for any art association dependent upon public support and interest and run almost entirely for and by the artists themselves.

Even in Carmel, recognized as an art center, is this a situation worthy of comment and one upon which the directors of the Carmel Art Association are to be congratulated.

Now the time is ripe for discussion for next winter's plans and it is expected that an outline of other phases of activity will be given on Monday. This is likely to include a certain amount of social activity of a harmonious nature in connection with the gallery on north Dolores street.

Election of the 1939-40 board of directors is on Monday's agenda. John O'Shea has continued in office as president of the Carmel Art Association for a second year and under his optimistic and energetic direction the artists have been able to accomplish something that will go down as a record in the art world.

During two years in office, O'Shea, an active artist, has taken time to give his personal supervision to the building of the fireproof gallery and has given of his time in actually arranging and planting the rock garden which is one of the gallery's chief ornaments—one which is being continually photographed by visitors from all parts of the world.

Present officers of the Carmel Art Association are: John O'Shea, president; Paul Whitman, first vice-president; Myron Oliver, second vice-president; Norah Grabill, secretary; Byington Ford, treasurer; William Ritschel, Armin Hansen, Paul Dougherty, Ferdinand Burgdorff, George Koch, Edda Maxwell Heath, Dr. Margaret Levick, Mrs. Margaret Ingalls, Burton Boundey, Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, George Seideneck, Homer Levinson, directors; Frederick P. Howard, Whitney Palache, Sidney Trevvett, Mrs. Janie Otto, Clay Otto, advisory committee.

General sentiment about the gallery is that with the completion and inauguration of the new building, the work of the Carmel Art Association is only beginning.

Attendance at the gallery has been ever increasing, with hundreds visiting during each summer week-end, and the Carmel art gallery is now being much sought by visiting artists and the casual tourist.

IRWIN SHAW, PLAYWRIGHT,
LEAVES FOR LOS ANGELES

Author of "Bury the Dead" and "The Gentle People", who has just completed his next play, Irwin Shaw, who has spent several weeks in Carmel, is on his way this week-end for Los Angeles, where he will remain for some time before returning to his home in New York City. He was greatly impressed with Carmel.

Masten and Ford Farce Next Month

"Where There's a Will"—there's a way!

That's the title of Carmel's next play... all of which is the worst doggerel. Much better verse will be heard in the "play with music" written by Richard L. Masten and Byington Ford, which is planned for Sunset auditorium Sept. 8-9. The date is still only tentative, but rehearsals are under way and Col. C. G. Lawrence is already making the set with the help of Kelly Clarke and Bud Todd.

While the feminine lead will be played by a former New York star in Rose Marie and other Broadway hits, Mrs. Alex George, who appeared with the stage name of Ethel Luise Wright, there is still wanted: One good-looking young man between 25 and 33 who can act and sing. He may be a tenor or a basso.

Mrs. George, wife of Capt. George who recently was transferred to Monterey Presidio after several years on duty with the intelligence service in the Orient, is regarded as a most valuable "find" and a male lead equal

August Building Looks Up, as Three Permits Issued for New Houses

Three permits for new houses have been issued already this month by B. W. Adams, Carmel building inspector.

Two of these are for houses near the foot of Ocean avenue. Hugh Comstock is building for A. Acton Hall for an estimated $2000 at Carmelo and Ocean avenue and Mark Manlove is building for an estimated $6000 a two-story cottage on Scenic between Ocean and Seventh for M. Da Cruz.

Mrs. M. Monk is having C. Gillett build on San Carlos between Vista and First a cottage. The estimated cost is $2000.

Harold Johnson Builds His Own Boat; a Winnah!

From time to time a Carmel boy has built a boat and gone a-sailing. Various such home-made boats have taken to the sea and proven highly commendable jobs.

Several years ago Dick and Sherman Comings resolved to build a seaworthy sloop and the result was a stoutly-constructed little boat about 24 feet long and capable of standing almost any kind of a beating. The black-hulled "Aurora" now has her berth in Point Lobos cove.

Over at the opposite site of Carmel Bay, in Stillwater Cove, rides another sloop, smaller and daintier, but nevertheless a neat-looking bit of a boat, a sloop recently completed by Harold Johnson, son of Captain Leonard Johnson.

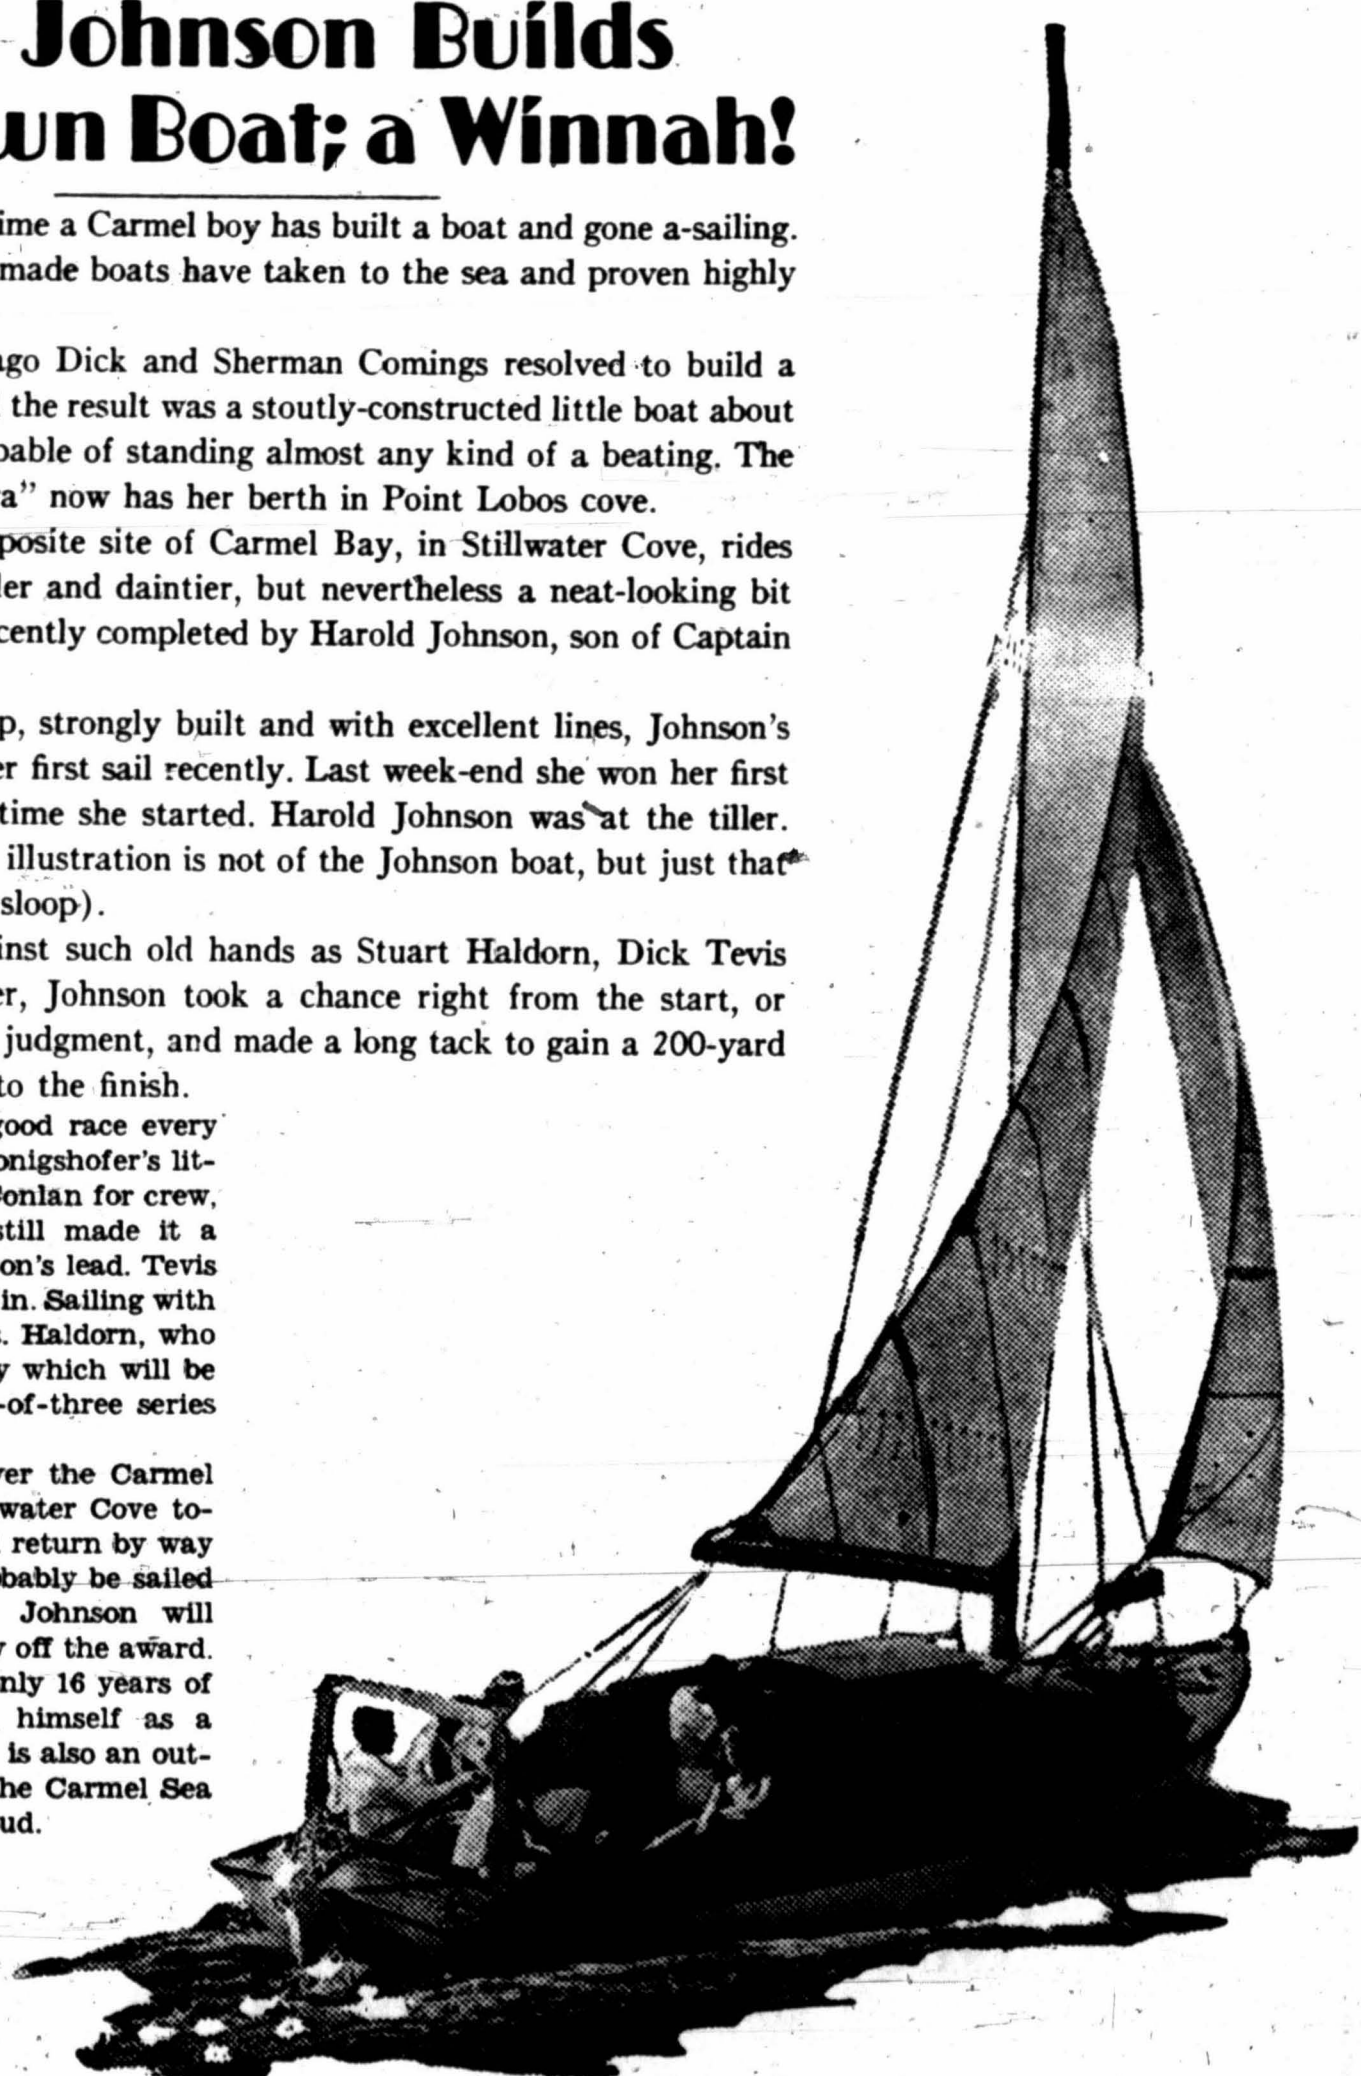

A graceful sloop, strongly built and with excellent lines, Johnson's boat went out for her first sail recently. Last week-end she won her first race, the very first time she started. Harold Johnson was at the tiller. (The accompanying illustration is not of the Johnson boat, but just that of any fair-weather sloop).

Competing against such old hands as Stuart Haldorn, Dick Tevis and Jon Konigshofer, Johnson took a chance right from the start, or perhaps it was good judgment, and made a long tack to gain a 200-yard lead which he held to the finish.

At that, it was a good race every bit of the way, and Konigshofer's little craft, with Louis Conlan for crew, after a good start, still made it a race in spite of Johnson's lead. Tevis and Haldorn followed in. Sailing with her husband was Mrs. Haldorn, who has put up the trophy which will be decided in a two-out-of-three series of races.

The second race over the Carmel Bay course from Stillwater Cove toward Point Lobos and return by way of Lone Rock will probably be sailed this week-end when Johnson will have a chance to carry off the award.

Young Johnson is only 16 years of age, but has proved himself as a small boat builder. He is also an outstanding member of the Carmel Sea Scout ship Flying Cloud.

Schools to Open on Monday, Aug. 28

A new school year will open on the last Monday in this month, Aug. 28, when the newly-formed Carmel junior high school, Sunset elementary school, and Monterey Union high school will welcome returning scholars.

Only three full high school classes will travel back and forth over Carmel hill to Monterey Union high school this year, as preparations have been made to handle the ninth year under the junior high school set-up in Carmel, which will include seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

Ninth graders will be educated here under the law which requires the newly-formed high school district to care for at least one class to preserve its separate entity.

Carmel Superintendent of Schools O. W. Bardarson is expected back this week-end to complete plans for reopening of Sunset.

Brownell Sets Amateur Course Record with 66 on Country Club Links

Bud Brownell of Carmel, 19-year-old golfer and son of Dr. Raymond Brownell, this week set up an amateur record of 66 for the Peninsula Country Club course.

Brownell was prepping for the California State amateur tournament slated for the Pebble Beach course Aug. 21-27.

The previous record was held by Brownell, Jim Ray, Earl Fadden and R. W. Meals, all of whom shot 67 over the 71-par course. Cam Puget set up the pro mark, one stroke better than Brownell's present record.

Spud's Information Has Record of 2000 Inquiries

This week we asked Spud Grey of Spud's Information Service for some information regarding his service as its second month of existence was checked off—two months of successful activity and service to Carmel, Carmelites and visitors to Carmel.

Spud told us that he had had approximately 2000 inquiries during this time, some of them over long distance telephone. Even long distance, he told us, calls on him in trying to locate visitors to Carmel.

Latest service offered by Spud is a free map of Carmel reduced to small scale. These will be available at his office, located in the center of the block opposite the Post Office.

Spud has just issued a call for more persons to register, especially Carmelites, who should record their names whether they are changing their addresses here or remaining in the same place. There is no cost for registering, Spud explains.

Personal attention to every inquiry is Spud's rule for satisfying all visitors to his office. He even goes out with motorists who are looking for people who live in houses which just can't be located by word-of-mouth alone. Meanwhile pretty Jean Hyde, who assists in the office, attends to the continual telephone calls and requests for assistance.

Spud is something of a super sleuth, be it also recorded, and his feats of memory rival those of the inimitable Hawkshaw. He recalls faces and telephone numbers, thereby surprising many of his patrons.

He now informs the public that he has a central ticket agency, handling pasteboards for anything from a garden flower show to a dog exhibit or a play. He also handles subscriptions for The Pine Cone and other journals.

At the same time, Spud emphasizes, he competes with no established local business, prefers to serve as an agent for all. "It's merely a service and it's a pleasure to be able to help," he says.

"I'm always ready to find a nurse maid or a piano—there isn't anything I can't find out for you. Just step up and ask Spud!" he says.

COUNCIL MEETING SET FOR MONDAY NEXT WEEK

The Carmel city council will meet Monday as a board of equalization at 10 a. m., and meetings will be called on succeeding days, it was indicated at Wednesday evening's meeting. The assessment roll is now open for inspection.

Baroness Liane de Guidro Reminisces for an Hour

Ash-blond hair gleaming and eyes dancing, the Baroness Liane de Guidro sat in a throne-like chair at the Carmel Art Institute on Tuesday afternoon and in a delightfully informal manner and with her deep, throaty voice and clipped accent told of how she became a sculptress worthy to have her bust of Caruso in the collection of La Scala Museum in Milan and to have had as her models such world famous persons as Mussolini, King Alfonso of Spain, and Toscanini—not to mention an Italian-owned American horse with whom she became on such excellent terms that she was able to call him one of her friends and have her former teacher admit that the finished "bust" of the equine was worthy of a man's execution . . . which from an Italian master was indeed high praise.

The Baroness wasted no time, however, in telling her former teacher, that a woman was entirely capable of doing "all that a man could do and more besides."

Seated in the front row of the group at the Institute that afternoon was another sculptor who has recently come to the Monterey peninsula to live, Finn Frollich. Frollich had studied abroad before the war and when the Baroness de Guidro asked if anyone had any questions to ask there opened to those present for a few minutes the intimacy of two artists who had known the same people and the same places. Then at his suggestion the Baroness set to work with a piece of clay and in no time at all produced for the interested audience the head of a mythical person with a proud tilt to his head.

Asked about the conditions in her native Hungary, she said Hungary intended to surrender peacefully if the country was demanded by one of the present-day dictators and that the Hungarians heard less about a European war than we do in this country.

Placed on a stand at her right were several pieces of her work cast in bronze and mounted on marble which were silent proof of her ability to work in her chosen line and delineate the characters of her models. Each piece of work was distinctly different and, asked if she had ever done a large piece of work, she admitted in her shy manner that she had done something big . . . yes . . . really big . . . a statue of St. Stephen in the Milan cathedral. She was the only woman in Italy to mount a scaffold and do a large piece of work. The one terra cotta model which she had on display was a full figure of St. Elizabeth of Hungary who helped the poor of her country despite the wishes of her German husband. When she was discovered in her charity she first prayed to God and then (shall we say it?) lied to her husband. But God was on her side and transformed the food in her basket to roses and so was saved and thus is always portrayed with one of these flowers.

The Baroness de Guidro will have an exhibition of her work in New York this fall and while here is interested in teaching or executing commissions.

Following the pleasant hour with the Baroness, the guests adjourned to the smaller studio and amidst the pictures of the very youngest of Carmel's artists, chatted while having coffee and cake.

JEFFERS AS I SAW HIM . . .

by ALICIA L. ROONEY

Having been in the presence of this great writer of tragic lines has filled my mind to overflowing.

Words rush forward to be set down, but when fingers are waiting to take dictation from the mind, nothing seems exactly worthy or quite fitting. Sorting and arranging of thoughts become a process of elimination. And I seem to have climbed to a rocky crag of emotional gibberish.

By determined effort I recall the worn rock and enduring boulders and the land and sea on Jeffers' bit of shore line; that grove of cypress he planted; his carefully established wilderness—tall grass growing as it will, divided by a path strewn with shells from the sea; the absence of all possible trappings of civilization.

Una Jeffers, wise, gracious and friendly guardian of her husband's well-being, is the gentle buffer between him and idle curiosity. She makes it possible for him to meet the chance caller. Her charming personality and intelligence carries easily the burden of a hostess.

But even this does not displace or shadow the austere dignity and awkward grace of Jeffers as he sits still with the atmosphere of a depressed steel spring.

The only other person that I have met, whose presence so permeated the room, is Stokowski. His is a delightful, magnetic personality, quick and impatient, but kindly.

Jeffers is apart from himself and the world of gaping and insensitive people. He walked into the room at once awkward and graceful, extending his hand in a hurried greeting. One senses his distaste of shaking hands. He should refrain from the gesture.

He is both shy and bold; with the

As Our Jo Sees It from Hatton Fields

A couple years ago this country, it figured that the folks were going a little too far, there in Old Spendthrift City on the Potomac, so everybody ups and writes his Senator. And brother, it worked wonders.

But they are kinda getting in a rut again, down there, and it looks like they have maybe half-way forgotten about the Supreme Court.

We expect our Congressmen to go down there and look out after our interests and be as smart as they claimed they were during the campaign. But when some of 'em get so far from home, they forget who sent them there, and also whose money they are spending—kinda like a freshman away from home.

But most Senators and Representatives, they understand arithmetic, and if they were to get enough postcards telling them to lay off passing any more laws, and come on home—or else not get re-elected—they would savvy.

And for the ones who cannot count any too well, tell them the melons are ripe, or the sweet corn is in, or anything—but get them home. And then, maybe, we can all take a long breath.

Yours, with the low down,

JO SERRA.

Christian Science

"The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him." These words from Lamentations comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, Aug. 13, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Soul." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is; To see thy power and thy glory, so as I have seen thee in the sanctuary" (Ps. 63: 1, 2).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Because Soul is immortal, it does not exist in mortality. Soul must be incorporeal to be Spirit, for Spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light" (p. 335).

Rabies Quarantine Has Little More Than One Month to be in Effect

County Sanitary Inspector Earle Duclux said that the rabies quarantine of the peninsula area from Marina south to Carmel river and west of the coast highway would last until Sept. 21, according to present indications.

No case has been reported, Duclux said, since April 26, about 110 days ago, and that indications now were favorable for an early termination of the quarantine imposed by the State department of health for a six-month period starting in the spring when several cases were reported on the Monterey side of the peninsula.

One case was reported from Pebble Beach and one from down the coast at Bixby Creek, aside from those on the other side of the peninsula.

DEED: Henry F. Dickinson et ux to Adeline S. Catlin. July 11. Lot 6, Blk. B-13, Add. 7, Carmel-by-the-Sea.

People Talked About

The University of California medical school is to institute, in conformity with a general request of the student body on the Berkeley campus, a course in family relations this fall with Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, professor of pharmacology, as one of the instructors. Dr. Leake is an occasional visitor to Carmel, a great admirer of the village, and one who, when he retires, is almost a sure bet to come here to live permanently.

Dr. Leake, widely known in his field, has stressed family relations and family histories in his courses at the medical school and as a result of this interest he has been named president of the Family Relations Center in San Francisco.

In inaugurating this course under Dr. Leake, the University of California is moving in accordance with a more or less general pattern of family building and sex education throughout the country.

Lecture topics will include orientation, evaluation of the family, sex and mental health, anatomy of sex, physiology of sex, personal sex hygiene, pathology of sex, psychology of sex, sex differences—mental and temperamental, courtship and selection of a mate, psychological factors in family life, social problems in family life and a summary. The purely medical aspects of the course will be under Dr. Leake, while Dr. Noel Keys, professor of educational psychology, will concentrate on the psychological phases.

GAS SALES RECORD

California gasoline sales for June set a new record for any single month in this state with a total of 166,062,425 gallons distributed. Tax on this amounted to $4,981,872.75, or an increase of $337,645.74 or 7.27 per cent over the same month last year. Gas tax returns for the first half year reached $26,091,955.38, an increase of $1,094,102.16 over the same period in 1938.

City Council Snappy In Regular Meeting Wednesday Evening

Th Carmel city council, with Councilmen Frederick R. Bechdolt and Clara Kellogg absent, set itself a good example on Wednesday evening when the regular monthly meeting proved a brief and pleasant affair.

Mayor Herbert Heron rushed signing of warrants and only important business of the meeting was the setting of the date of hearing for Joey Perry's wood yard for Wednesday, Aug. 23.

Perry is seeking to establish his wood yard on the west side of San Carlos opposite the Shell station.

Peter Mawdsley was granted request for $350 for the 1938 audit.

STORY OF OLD CALIFORNIA

"From Cowhides to Golden Fleece" is the title of an early fall publication by the Stanford University Press, written by Reuben L. Underhill and covering the life of Thomas O. Larkin, master trader and only U. S. consul to California, who resided in Monterey.

Officer Les Overhulse Aids Woman as Machine Plunges into Gulley

Carmel Police Officer Les Overhulse, off duty at the time, went out of his way to assist a young lady in distress early last Sunday evening when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Overhulse, noticed the headlights of a car leave the Pebble Beach road and go over the side into the gulley opposite their home in the north of town.

Overhulse found that a stump had caught the car and saved it from rolling over and seriously injuring or killing its occupant. Miss Darlel Bisson, 24, of Pebble Beach. She was only slightly injured in the fall.

Monterey police had earlier been advised by Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Merrill of Monterey that the young woman was despondent on leaving their home and had left two letters indicating a desire to take her own life.

Del Monte Swim, Diving Contests Set for Sunday

Some of America's greatest aquatic stars will share the spotlight with local swimmers and divers in the Pacific Coast meet to be held in Del Monte's Roman Plunge at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Helen Crelenkovich, newly-crowned national diving champion, will be seen in exhibition dives from the high board with Ted Needham, All-American Interscholastic diving champion, and Dorothy Sundby, holder of Pacific Coast backstroke and freestyle records, will head the swimmers.

The big events for Monterey Peninsula swimmers will be the Monterey Open for boys and the Monterey Open for girls in which teams from the Pebble Beach Club, the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and the Del Monte Plunge will participate.

Competing against Miss Sundby for the two Pacific Association titles will be some of the Pacific Coast's speediest mermaids, including Virginia Cornell and Glee Mygrant, of the Women's City Club; Oakland; Jean Hardeman and Marion Falconer, of the Crystal Plunge; Dorothy Franklin, Ann Curtis, Connie Wheeler and Marie La Montagne, of the Fairmont Plunge.

Clyde Diaz and Norman Hanley will conclude the day's events with an exhibition of comedy diving.

Natural Color Moving Picture Shows Local Scenes Along Coast

"Along the Trail of the Padres", a sound picture in natural color, has just been completed by Pacific Gas and Electric Company and is now available for showings before civic groups and other community organizations, according to T. W. Snell, manager of the Coast Valleys Division. The locale of the picture is confined to the Salinas Valley and the Monterey Peninsula. The continuity is in the form of a travelogue which retraces the footsteps of the Padres, visits the four Missions which once flourished in these counties and notes the present-day development of this

Reader's Reaction

The following letter handed The Pine Cone by Misses Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous:
Denny-Watrous Office,
Carmel, Calif.

Dear Ladies:
Just a few lines to tell you how much I enjoyed my stay and playing during the last Bach Festival, because the short abode at Peter Pan Lodge has been delightful in every respect, thanks to the charming hostesses, not mentioning even the unforgettable impression of the unique dainty town plus its nearly magic surroundings. With reference to my playing may I say: It has been a great pleasure to perform to the best of my ability with all the other artists, earn the spontaneous appreciation of a Bach-devoted audience and witness the remarkable sincerity of the orchestral group, including its utterly capable leader, at work.

Most sincerely yours,
(Signed) ARY VAN LEEUWEN.

Body of Drowned Youth Recovered From Carmel Bay

Almost four weeks to the day, the body of 17-year-old William Vaught of Oakland was recovered from Cook's Cove at the foot of Thirteenth avenue at the beach last Friday noon.

Vaught drowned when he swam to his brother's assistance and his brother, Edley Vaught, Jr., was rescued by James Thoburn, ex mayor of Carmel.

The body was first seen in the breakers almost exactly at the spot where young Vaught drowned, and was brought to shore by Earl DeMoe, 21-year-old Carmelite, on one of the new surf boards provided for beach rescue work since the tragedy occurred.

A. M. Hannon was credited with being the first to see the body floating near shore. A brother-in-law of the victim identified the body "to his satisfaction."

fertile agricultural region.

The picture opens at Mission San Antonio de Padua, near King City, and takes the spectator northward through the famed King City bean-growing area to the rich dairying section surrounding the ruins of old Mission Soledad. Featured among the agricultural sequences is one which follows the lettuce industry through from field to packing plant.

Sequences devoted to the Monterey Peninsula region feature the historical romance of old Monterey, and are replete with beautiful natural-color photography of scenes along the 17-Mile Drive to Carmel. At Monterey the photographer goes to sea with the sardine fleet, returning to film the interesting activity within a modern sardine-packing plant. Concluding sequence of the picture is a colorful sunset over old Mission San Carlos de Borromeo as the narrator summarizes the beauties and commercial importance of the Coast Valleys region.

It is announced that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is prepared to show "Along the Trail of the Padres" in any of the communities it serves in the Coast Valleys region. Arrangements may be made through the local agent of the company.

MEASLES POPS UP AGAIN

After a brief lull in measles in the county, a new outbreak occurred in the western part of the county to bring the total to eight cases during the last week. Three new cases each of syphilis and gonorrhea, two each of mussels poisoning and mumps, and one of poliomyelitis were reported.

Welakahao! It's Island Whoopee at Del Monte

Welakahao!

In Hawaiian it means "whoopee," and in any language it means a good time.

It's the name for the third of the summer season's popular cruise parties to be held in Del Monte's Ball Room tonight.

The theme of the party will be a trip to the Islands on board the "S. S. Lurline," of the Matson Line, which will be carried out in decorations by Bruce Ariss.

Featured in the floor show will be the famous Royal Hawaiian Glee Club consisting of 30 singing and dancing girls who are coming here direct from the Islands.

In addition to presenting the authentic hula they will perform several other lesser known but equally entertaining native dances.

Many would-be passengers were left standing on the dock when the Ball Room set out on its "Around the World" cruise last Saturday and

Deer Hunter Killed by Companion as Two Fire in Brush at Once

The Santa Lucia range was combed this week in search by a sheriff's posse for the slaying of Walter Olson, 27, Gonzales high school teacher, killed while deer hunting near Big Creek.

Only two years ago a young deer hunter was killed on the eastern side of the range about as far south as Big Creek.

A. H. Riggins of Salinas and Deputy Sheriff E. N. Harris of King City were in charge of the investigation conducted 15 miles back from the coast 60 miles south of Carmel.

Later it was learned that companions of Olson, Victor Johnson of Castroville and James Dolan of Blanco admitted the shooting, both firing at once when they saw the brush move. One of their shots felled Olson.

those planning to make the Hawaiian trip tonight are urged to make their reservations early in order to avoid similar disappointment.

CITY COUNCIL MEETINGS

As the Carmel City Council is well aware, the Press of Carmel, at times lenient in its reporting of actions of the City Council, is nevertheless always on the qui vive in its efforts to inform and protect the public. These are essential ingredients in the carrying out of the theory of the freedom of the press, a responsibility and a duty to balance the favors and benefits which sometimes accrue to the office of reporter and editor.

As such a part of the body politic,—the Fourth Estate should be informed of City Council meetings, especially when meetings are hastily called and conducted. Such a case in point is that of two week's ago, when the Council met briefly to order abandonment of efforts to enforce sections of the traffic ordinance as regards parking limits. The Press was notably absent, but at least one member of the Council made remarks regarding members of the press—so the Fourth Estate was not entirely forgotten on this occasion—and yet no effort was made to call by telephone any member of Carmel's news gatherers.

The Councils of other years have been accused of star chamber sessions. Such present action tends to recall to us that period. —F. L.

"HORSE AND BUGGY"

At least one State department which should be out of the horse and buggy era is still laboring in the shadow of Old Dobbin and within reach of a whipple-tree.

This is the one responsible for the handling of applications for car operators' licenses. Whenever this department opens an office on the peninsula, it is over-taxed and persons must wait an hour, sometimes hours to complete their applications; on other occasions the office is maintained only in Salinas for the entire area as far south as King City and including the peninsula and all adjoining areas.

Not only are these waits intolerable, but it has been reported at various times that the meager staff of these offices is meager as regards efficiency as well as in manpower.

No one should be asked to burn state-taxed gasoline driving from Carmel to Salinas and back to fill out applications for licenses when there are enough persons requiring to do so on the peninsula to give a local office more work than it can cope with. Nor should it be necessary to wait so long in line at the local office as has been the experience with many during the past year.

LET'S HELP OUT

When it came right down to searching out a club room at a minimum of expense the Carmel Progressive Club, the group of youths looking for a place of recreation, did very well for themselves. They have large quarters on Junipero street in Mrs. Gould's building. It won't be necessary for a group of sponsors to "go" on their note for alterations to the club rooms as was first thought. The boys financed their repairs themselves from contributions.

However it took nearly all their money to swing the deal. There remains the problem of furnishings and some expense for sundry equipment. So again the appeal is being made for sums of money, any amount deeply appreciated, to go toward doing something further for these youths.

Send your checks or dollars to Carmel Progressive Club, address Post Office Box G-1, Carmel, or care of The Carmel Pine Cone.

THE BELOVED

*I am made still and strange. What is it cries
 So faint and thin against the trembling rain?
 "Hear not, it is a wistful voice that lies
 A little love that strives to live again."*

*What is this glimmer, pale as languid thought,
 That seeks to hold the drifting mists apart?
 "Be still, my love, it is the hand that sought
 To keep you from my safe and loving heart."*

*My dreaming hand is tangled in your hair,
 And fumes of sleep are perfume of your breath;
 Your face, beloved, seeks me through the air,
 And drowsily I feel your arms, O Death.*

*Now let your stilling kisses find my mouth,
 While Gemini that twinned sign of my birth
 Fades green along the chambers of the south
 Beyond the solid ramparts of the earth.*

—From the Note-Book of Bertha Newberry

MEADOW LARK

*The meadow lark, across the lake,
 Gives up to air his liquid note,
 High, clear and gay, without a break,
 Golden and gurgling in his throat.
 The mist of dawn and heat of noon
 Swing dreamily beneath his trill;
 'Tis only when the yellow moon
 Comes to the night, his song is still.*

WHERE JUAN RIDES DOWN

*Where Juan rides over, the mesa's run
 Is pale in the glare of relentless sun,
 Save where a cloud shadow lies like a bruise,
 Or an antelope's tail whisks white as he slews,—
 There's little of life and love to be won,
 Where Juan rides over.*

*Where Juan reins in with a wily wrist,
 At the brink of a bowl in the mesa's breast,
 He quaffs of the distilled, liquid red
 Of cactus flowers wining from rim to bed,
 In a goblet where love and life keep tryst.*

*Where Juan rides down, in his hat a feather,
 The trail is steep and smooth as leather.
 He poses! He whoops! And the pony's feet,
 Stiffened and ready, are fleetlier than fleet—
 Hola! Guadalupe! Make ready the tether,
 Where Juan rides down.*

—MARY MACEY DIETZLER.

THIS IS HOW IT IS . . .

Of course no one condones cruelty to animals, and certainly we would be the first to raise strong objection to the mistreatment of dogs. We are dog lovers and as an example let us list the names of the dogs we own at present: Kane Kapu, Clyde, Tip, Timber and Pucherino Guido Di Di Gitaldi.

But, we do also strongly object to cruelty to humans in asking them to read such a sob-ologue as appeared seriously in another newspaper two weeks ago.

COUNTY TAXES AND BUDGET

Public hearing on the county budget will be held after August 20, Chairman of Supervisors A. B. Jacobsen advised The Pine Cone this week, and the budget is scheduled for adoption August 30 with the tax rate to be set September 1, all in accordance with the dates set by law.

After August 10 the preliminary budget will be available and copies will be on hand at The Pine Cone office, Chairman Jacobsen signified.

"It is to our advantage to have the citizens interested and aware," Mr. Jacobsen commented.

Soon is the time, therefore, for all those who wish to keep a close check on tax affairs to look into county tax matters and to make themselves heard at the public hearings—or forever hold their peace.

It is indicated that the tax rate will be the same as last year.

The California Taxpayers' Association advises taxpayers to keep their eyes glued on county budgets as well as school budgets in their efforts "to reduce unnecessary and unwarranted public expenditures."

Salinas is only a few miles away.

ANDERSON AND THE "OKIES"

"Grapes of Wrath" is mentioned in the Congressional Record at the behest of our Representative, Jack Anderson, according to a report brought us by National Service Syndicate, representing scores of California weeklies and other newspapers at Washington, D. C., as follows:

Bringing into the open again the need of legislation to afford some relief to migratory families in California, Representative Jack Anderson inserted into the Congressional Record an editorial from the Washington Post dealing with John Steinbeck's book, "Grapes of Wrath", in which the author handles the subject without gloves.

The editorial calls attention, the Congressman pointed out, to a serious problem which exists in the United States and which is especially serious in the State of California. The book, Grapes of Wrath, is "an unfortunate review of the situation," he said, rising to the defense of the migratory families.

"The author has taken an unhappy group of American citizens and described them as a most degraded and degenerate portion of our population."

"I know some of these people personally and know of the circumstances which forced them to give up their farms and homes to seek new homes elsewhere. Most of them are descendants of pioneer families, fine Americans who helped to build this country and who moved into the great Southwest in the early days and did their share in developing that tremendous area."

Early in April, the California Congressman, together with other members of the delegation, met with WPA Administrator Harrington and Farm Security Administrator Alexander, and explained to them the gravity of the situation in California. This conference was an attempt to stress the importance of national legislation to aid these migratory families.

"Through no fault of their own," Representative Anderson stated to Congress the other day, "They are now homeless wanderers and their one great desire is to find work and to have another chance to rehabilitate themselves. It is the duty of Congress to give prompt attention to this matter and to make every effort toward a sound and lasting solution of the problem."

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

Come on, you potential writers, and hear what one of the greatest counsellors of writers, born and unborn geniuses of the pen, has to say on "What Editors Want."

Mathilde Weil, for 20 years in business as a literary agent in New York City, will speak at the Village Book Shop, Lincoln street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30, on this subject. Many are the old-time Carmel writers who sold through Miss Weil, probably one of the most successful women in her field.

Now she has come to live in San Francisco and expects to keep in close contact with Carmel. In New York she specialized in the development of new writers, and markets every manuscript she thinks saleable, giving freely of her advice to those whose work she does not consider likely to sell to advantage.

After graduation from Bryn Mawr College, she served as literary advisor for MacMillan, then for Doran, and later became consulting specialist for them and to other leading firms.

This first discussion in Carmel will be, we confidently hope, the first of a series of such meetings here.

The old San Francisco Wasp recalls one of the stories related at the time (1906) of Jack London's vagaries, occasionally true, frequently unfounded, as follows:

"One fine morning the erratic author asked Miss Anna Strunsky to go to the theater with him and she accepted. Later in the day London went to Oakland, was married to Miss Maddern and got back in time to keep his theater engagement with Miss Strunsky. As the pair of young socialists were starting for the play the novelist remarked casually, 'By the way, I got married today!'"

Ross C. and Thelma B. Miller have departed from Carmel where they made their home for several years, during which they were active in dramatics and for a major portion as editor and writer, respectively, of The Pine Cone, of which Ross Miller owned an interest purchased from the late Perry Newberry.

Ross Miller is now part owner and editor of the Kern Daily Herald, only morning newspaper in Bakersfield, and Thelma Miller is to write for the paper.

In his native Iowa, whence most good Californians have come, Ross Miller had a varied career. Born on a farm, at an early age he became an apprentice on a weekly paper, soon joined a troupe of actors and later a carnival, in which he did 100-foot dives into a net. Injured because of careless assistance, he quit diving, and on returning to California was a newspaperman and an early-day motion picture "recruiting" agent—the movies had a doubtful future at that time. He also played a movie lead. During a long newspaper career, Ross Miller has worked in Seattle, San Francisco, San Jose, Bakersfield, Los Angeles, Honolulu, and Salt Lake.

Thelma Miller also came from Iowa, and at 18 joined the staff of the Bakersfield Californian, of which Ross Miller was managing editor. There she "discovered" the beautiful wild flowers, of which the world had yet to learn. She later had newspaper jobs in Sacramento, Glendale, Long Beach and Huntington Park, before returning to work in Bakersfield, where she married.

Likewise interested in amateur dramatics, Thelma helped organize a community theater in Bakersfield, and, when the Millers came to Carmel, both joined in amateur play activities.

Together they promise to give the Kern Daily Herald a great backbone of energy and enterprise and we wish them well in their pioneering effort.

Someone the other day remarked: "If the police department didn't have cats to chase and the fire department didn't have grass fires to rush to, I don't know what they'd all do, now things are so well in hand in Carmel."

There's a great deal of good-natured chiding about Chief Bob Norton's radio, with such conversations as "This is Norton. Chasing a cat on Dolores street," being conjured up by the curb operators. Chief Norton, however, is actually doing his bit in the customary pleasant and helpful manner.

Recently Barbara Winslow, the U. S. No. 4 woman tennis player who is fast recovering from her illness of last winter, acquired a mite of a yellow kitten. One day it vanished and Chief Norton, soon after being called, turned up with a yellow kitten. It wasn't the right one, but Miss Winslow adopted it as it was apparently a stray. Soon this kitten was lost and, in time, Norton turned up with the right fellow.

Too soon, however, this yellow one went its way and today Miss Winslow nurses a deaf little fellow in white. Affairs have not gone well with this kitten either, it turns out. Miss Winslow was on the verge of calling the police in her frantic search about her house, but she delayed, more philosophically this time. The house on Junipero was ransacked—no kitten!

Then Miss Winslow went to the post office and returning across the Plaza in the dark thought she saw a white kitten. She gave chase with great whoops, but the kitten vanished. Returning home, she opened the door and, lo! there was the white kitten sitting up on the bed and stretching. Meanwhile, the house had been hermetically, kitten-proof, sealed, she swears.

William Weldon Welsh — Billy Welsh to his home-town friends—is home on leave from San Diego where he has just completed Navy radio training school. After ten days in Carmel he will return to San Diego for assignment to a vessel. He has applied for cruiser service, hoping to see as much of the world as is possible during his enlistment. Plans for the future when his enlistment is up, are indefinite.

Billy Welsh is a graduate of Sunset and Monterey Union high school and is the elder son of Mrs. Rae Welsh, Carmel real estate woman. He has been a radio "bug" since before high school days.

Myron Brinig, author of "The Sisters", who lived in Carmel for about a year while working toward this most successful novel of his career, is now working with Lillian Gish on an authentic story of moving pictures.

Brinig long ago expressed his admiration for Miss Gish and his desire to collaborate with her on such a novel, and it has reached the stage of production, according to Louella Parsons.

During his stay in Carmel Brinig joined the host of local columnists contributing to the "Californian", then published by Palmer Beaudette, and his sly pokes at the local great were much appreciated.

Another author who has lived here during months of arduous work is Clyde Brion Davis, author of the successful "The Anointed", which was followed by "The Great American Novel" and most recently by "Nebraska Coast."

Midsummer week-ends in Carmel are busy ones. Last week-end, for example, there was the Del Monte Dog Show, under the capable running of Miss Marian Kingsland, with three thousand persons in attendance. When the judging was over it was found that Miss Phyllis Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell of Carmel Valley, had won two blue ribbons—one for her Welsh terrier, Walescroft Dopey, and one for her Chihuahua, Pulgos del Rancho. Mrs. Andre Damiano, also of the valley, carried off a first with Carrillon Qualité.

Tennis was the order of the week-end at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club on Sunday afternoon and the feature of the invitational mixed doubles tournament was the entry of Miss Barbara Winslow teamed with Digby Humburg, both of Carmel. This was Miss Winslow's first tournament since her recent illness and she showed those present that there was good reason for her to be ranked as fourth woman player in the United States. She and her partner carried off the prize presented for this event by Mrs. Marjorie Kumler.

Turning from the dry land to the two swimming meets in progress on water we find that last week end had Sunday afternoon, the Douglas summer school meet in the Roman Plunge at Del Monte and at the Pebble Beach Racquet Club a meet against members of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. Star of the latter meet was Miss Mary Jane Ford, daughter of Mrs. Marian Ford of Carmel Valley, who won two races and anchored the winning relay team. Stuyvesant Fish, son of Sidney Fish of Carmel Valley, won the distance plunge and the Racquet Club swimmers showed their superiority over the visitors to the tune of a 55 to 15 score.

Leaving the dry land all together for the ocean itself and still there was week-end activity. Starting at Stillwater Cove and following a triangular course were four small boats competing in the first of a series of races to be held on Sundays for the cup presented by Mrs. Stuart Haldorn. This first race was won by Harold Johnson of Carmel with Bob Ross as crew. Second was Jon Konigshofer, assisted by Louis Conlan; third, Dick Tevis, and fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Haldorn. Johnson, who is only 16 years old, was sailing in the small snipe class craft which he built himself.

Lovely Corinne Luchaire, impetuous and lovely actress, who appears in "Prison Without Bars", the Alexander Korda film of a girls' reformatory, showing at the Filmarte Theater tonight and Saturday.

Then if the good Carmelite didn't go to any of these planned entertainments, Sunday provided two impromptu excitements in the village by seeing that the fire siren echoed twice over the town in twenty-four hours, to lure the curious to two small fires soon extinguished by our energetic Fire Laddies.

Yes! all in all a midsummer week-end is busy in Carmel.

Recent visitors now back in Carmel on their honeymoon, are Commander and Mrs. Hallen Viney. They are occupying the guest house of Major and Mrs. Ralph A. Coote. Commander Viney, English author of "How Do I Begin", a Moral Re-Armament publication, and his bride, the former Miss Ethnie Harris, whose home is in Ireland, were married on Wednesday in Hollywood. Both Commander and Mrs. Viney were active participants in the M. R. A. congress on the peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranald Cockburn turned their car north on Thursday afternoon, headed for their ranch, the Flying-O, near Witter Springs in Lake county, and remained away from Carmel until Monday.

Deserting the heat of Sacramento for two weeks are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Hunkins and their son, Bill. The Hunkins family spent the early part of last week in San Francisco visiting the Fair and Mrs. Hunkins brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs.

James Hopper, Jr., and the rest of the week in Carmel with Mr. and Mrs. James Hopper. This week the Hunkins and the Hoppers are camping in Yosemite.

Eight years old is Elton Clark, son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Clark of Hatton Fields, and last Thursday, his birthday, he invited eight of his friends to go swimming at Del Monte followed by a party in his garden at home. Main feature of the tea party was the cake baked by Mrs. Hal Garrett for the occasion and topped with eight candles. Those who enjoyed the swimming and the feast were Eric Otto, Dick Weer, Tommy Handley, Donald Poulsen, Norman Wilson, Arthur Hilbert, Billy Godwin, Miner Smith and the young host.

Jack Hotelling and Donie Donnell of Santa Monica were in Carmel for a few days this week visiting old friends.

Robert Walsh, Philadelphia electrical engineer, who has been in Carmel for several weeks, has been joined by Mrs. Walsh and their daughter, Wendy. They are planning to remain for some time.

Mrs. James Cooke of Carmel Highlands has been on a trip to Los Angeles. She has recently returned from a truly flying visit to the New York Fair, having traveled East by plane and accomplished the trip in two weeks.

Paso Robles is the place chosen by Carmel's artist Edda Heath Pappel, her mother, Mrs. A. E. Heath, and her sister, Mrs. L. D. Fisher of New York, to spend a few weeks. They are at present at the San Luis Obispo county resort, but expect to return soon to their home here.

Called to San Diego by the serious illness of Mr. Grabill's brother are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Grabill of Carmel Point. Due to the nature of their trip south they will be away an indefinite time.

HOME NOT DESTROYED

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilson, who have a home in Carmel, this week corrected a report that their home near Alma in the Santa Cruz mountains had been burned in a forest fire which blackened 200 acres of adjoining land belonging to them. Their garage and stables, however, were lost.

Chicago and points in Wisconsin are where Sam Coblenz of Carmel will spend the next few weeks. He left for the Midwest by car last week.

William Wood, owner-manager of Robles del Rio Lodge, has announced another of the series of informal dances at the Lodge for this evening from 9:30 to 2:00, when Niel Baggett will provide the music. An a la carte buffet supper will be served. David Prince, partner in Robles del Rio, and Mrs. Prince are expected down from San Francisco for the dance and to remain for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross C. Miller, who have been active in writing and dramatic circles in Carmel during their stay of several years, returned yesterday to their old home in Bakersfield where they will be associated with the Kern Herald, of which Mr. Miller is a part owner and publisher.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Dreppard of Memphis, Tenn., are spending a month's vacation in the Red Shutters cottage with their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Daley of Kansas City. Mr. Dreppard is a Veterans Administration supply officer with many years in U. S. government service. Mr. Daley is an attorney.

Back in their Carmel Woods home are the Stoddard family. Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard and her son, Gordon, have spent the past month variously in San Francisco at the Fair, in Santa Barbara visiting Mrs. Stoddard's mother, Mrs. Minnie Rolph, and at Huntington Lake in Yosemite. Miss Shirlee Stoddard remained in Carmel during this time, busy with her lending library in Las Tiendas court and as the guest of Mrs. Laura Chester.

Married last Saturday noon in St. John's Chapel at Del Monte by the Reverend Theodore Bell were Miss Pauline Elizabeth Turner of Carmel and Stockton and John Arpin Davies of Altadena. The altar and chancel of the chapel were decorated for the occasion with white gladioli and the wedding music was played by Miss Julia Keith. The bride wore a white marquisette gown trimmed with Irish lace, a shoulder length veil held in place with white orchids and carried a white prayer book marked with white orchids. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She was attended by Miss Betty Covell, gowned in blue marquisette with a white veil held in place with salmon begonias and carrying the same flowers. Robert W. Chess of Monrovia was Mr. Davies' best man. Following the ceremony the bridal couple received their guests in the Tower Room of Del Monte Hotel where champagne to drink the health of the newlyweds was served from a carved block of ice decorated with flowers. Decorations on the table were of white stock and fern. Mr. and Mrs. Davies will make their home in Glendale where the groom is connected with the airplane industry. Mrs. Davies is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Turner of Stockton and Carmel while Mr. Davies is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Davis of Altadena.

Prior to the talk which the Baroness Liane de Guidro gave at the Carmel Art Institute on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Kit Whitman entertained at lunch at the Pebble Beach Racquet Club when her guests were Baroness de Guidro, Mrs. John O'Shea, Mrs. Lee Tevis, Miss Phyllis Russell and Miss Betty Work.

Called to New York by the unexpected illness of her mother is Mrs. Hilary Belloc who has been spending the summer in Carmel. Mrs. Belloc left here on Tuesday evening and went East by plane.

Guest of her brother, Jess Duvall, Sr., last week-end was Miss Nell Duvall of Pratt, Kans., who has been on a trip to Alaska followed by a visit to the San Francisco Fair.

Dr. Russell Williams has joined Mrs. Williams and their two children at the Criley home at Carmel Highlands. Dr. Williams, for the past two years a resident physician at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, is planning to remain permanently on the peninsula and set up a practice here.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Black and their small daughter, Erin, of San Francisco, are arriving this week-end and will remain in Carmel for two weeks as the guest of Mrs. Black's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bosworth.

Florence Enright, of stage fame, is spending some time in Carmel as the guest of Mrs. Irene McDonald at her north Carmel home. Miss Enright is the sister of Mrs. Herman Crossman of Pebble Beach and is at present dramatic coach for Twentieth Century-Fox in Hollywood.

If anyone has seen two strange cutups around the peninsula this past week they need not be alarmed, as Gracie Allen and George Burns have been in our midst. We hope George didn't have too hard a time explaining all the various peculiarities of the region to Gracie and that Gracie found plenty to amuse her while here.

Arthur Murray, king of ballroom dancers, is in these parts and while here is making Del Monte Hotel his headquarters.

Glimpsed at the buffet supper at the Mission Ranch Club last Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Abrahams of Tacoma, Rene McDonald, Mrs. J. Lynch, Florence Enright, Mrs. Fern Hyde, Jean Hyde, Mrs. Eddie Evans of Los Angeles, Mrs. Loa Lloyd, Col. and Mrs. G. W. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Al Sparks, R. H. Lacey, Mrs. Marion Sullivan, Dick Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cyrus Smith, Richard and James Smith.

Miss Althea Reynolds has been home for several days from the Peninsula Community Hospital and is making a good recovery from an appendix operation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bischel and their daughters, Tabea and Elaine, and Dorothy Patzer, all of Lodi, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Blewett and May Bischel in Carmel this week.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Shea at a brilliant dinner party at their home one night this week were Col. Charles Erskine Scott Wood, Miss Sara Bard Field, Martin Flavin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart, Baroness Liane de Guidro, George Gordon Moore; and at a recent picnic, Ruth St. Denis, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. James, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Madden of New York City, Mrs. John Douglas Short, Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart, Col. Wood, Martin Flavin and Miss Field.

Leslie Howard and Wendy Hiller in George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" at the Carmel Theater Sunday and Monday.

Miss Emma Mills, chairman of the executive committee of the National Poetry Society, which has its headquarters in New York and Padraic Colum as its president, was a visitor in Carmel this week, and on Wednesday a group of her friends met at Peter Pan Lodge to lunch with her. They were Mrs. Russell Matthias, Mrs. F. A. Ingalls, Mrs. James Curtis of New York, Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams, Mrs. Charlotte Kellogg, Mrs. Hurd Comstock (Dora Hagemeyer), Mrs. Susan Porter, Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, Mrs. Erskine Scott Wood (Sara Bard Field), Mrs. Par-ton and Mrs. Colden Whitman. Miss Mills, who has long been active with the Poetry Society, is responsible for the success of its yearly banquet when one of America's leading poets is the honored guest and hundreds of poetry lovers gather together. She is also famous for the luncheons at which she presents authors before the public eye to various groups of people particularly interested in writing. This is Miss Mills' first trip to the west and she has stopped off in Santa Fe and Hollywood as well as Carmel and in each place found groups of her friends to whom she tells her most favorable impressions of our west.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Masten, veteran campers, hit the trail again this week-end for a fortnight in the wilderness. Arrowhead Lake is their destination.

Bridge winners at the Mission Ranch Club this week were, first, Miss Ara Haswell and Don McFadden and, second, Mrs. M. W. Crowley and Mrs. H. S. Olinger.

Among those spending the week at the Mission Ranch Club have been Miss Elizabeth B. Helmer and Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Brooks, both of St. Louis; Miss Edna Bennett of Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kelly of San Francisco.

News of the Reverend C. J. Hulse, rector of All Saints' Church, is that he is having "a perfectly grand and inspiring time" in Amsterdam; that "there is much rain but it does not dampen our spirits"; and that he attended a Bach recital in the Oude Kerk in Amsterdam on July 28.

Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Neubauer of Mount Hamilton will join their daughters, Misses Phoebe and Rita Neubauer, and their friend, Miss Dorothy Cross, in their Carmel Woods home this week-end.

Mrs. Robert D. Samuels and Miss Margaret Samuels, both of Pasadena, are occupying the Montgomery cottage on Santa Rita for a month.

A garden tour to the homes of Mrs. Charles H. Crocker, Mrs. W. M. Garland, Lewis Hill, Daniel Murphy and Mrs. Martha Newcome in the Pebble Beach area tomorrow will benefit the Monterey Community Center. A charge of $1 is made for the tour.

Mrs. Theodore Criley gave a cocktail party on Wednesday afternoon in honor of members of her family, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Criley, Jr., of Los Angeles, and Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, formerly of Baltimore but who will make their home here. Among the many guests were Mr. and Mrs. John O'Shea, Mrs. John Douglas Short, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher, Mrs. Valentine Porter, Miss Emily Pitkin, Miss Lorena Ray, Miss Flavia Flavin, Miss Cynthia Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gilbert, Martin Flavin, Jr., John Short, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shine of Los Angeles, Miss Telen Hastings, Dr. Paul Achilles of New York City, Don Frick, Mrs. M. J. Shannon of Fresno, Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart, Irwin Shaw, Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Alistair Miller and Jerome Chance.

Back in Carmel after several months in the Hawaiian Islands is Mrs. Saxton Pope. Mrs. Pope arrived here last Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Evans, who had previously gone to San Francisco to meet her.

On Tuesday of last week Miss June Rose Duvall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Duvall of Carmel, was married in the Presbyterian Church in Monterey to Harry E. Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Carter of Kingston, Pa. Miss Susie Ellen Duvall was her sister's only attendant and Edward E. Lee was best man for Mr. Carter. Following a brief honeymoon in Santa Cruz the newlyweds are in Carmel but plan a trip to Pennsylvania in the near future when they will be the guests of Mr. Carter's parents.

One of the series of dinner dances at Del Monte Lodge is set for Sunday evening and although no special entertainment has been planned, those attending are assured that they will have a "big" time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alistair Miller are leaving shortly for their ranch on the Gaviota Pass where they will spend about two weeks sampling the life in the south coast before deciding whether or not they will settle there permanently.

Mrs. Margaret Moore of Carmel, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Martin Straith of San Mateo, left on Saturday for a three-weeks' motor trip to Seattle, Portland and Victoria, B. C.

Miss Virginia Wheeler of Pebble Beach returned on Wednesday from a visit in Palo Alto with several of her sorority sisters.

Shakespeare Lives Again! Play Group Resumes Study

The written word of William Shakespeare is voiced again in Carmel as the Carmel Shakespeare company resumes its readings on Tuesday evenings and its preparations for the production of "Julius Caesar" at meetings on Saturday afternoons.

Herbert Heron, long associated with Carmel amateur dramatics and a leading protagonist of the great playwright, sounded the call on Tuesday night of this week and brought together a large and enthusiastic gathering of readers, some of them eminently qualified to take part in a Shakespeare production.

The readings have been resumed after two months' vacation and will continue on Tuesday evenings at the Carmel Art Institute in the Seven Arts Building starting at 8 p. m.

Rehearsals for "Julius Caesar" will continue each Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the same studio.

It is expected that "Julius Caesar" will be produced by Herbert Heron sometime in November, possibly at Sunset auditorium, Heron announced yesterday.

In addition to "Julius Caesar", the first half of which was ready this week, other plays will be read by members of the group. All interested in Shakespeare and in serious acting are invited to attend.

Last year and the year before Heron has directed readings of a wide selection of Shakespeare and is outstandingly qualified in this role. Several years ago he produced and played the name part in "Hamlet", scoring a record high for standard in an amateur production at the Forest Theater.

"Tatters" Again Scheduled for First Theater

"Tatters, the Pet of Squatters' Gulch", played and re-played by the Troupers of the Gold Coast, will see its 32nd revival at the old California's First Theater in Monterey on the week-end of Thursday to Sunday, Aug. 17-20.

Already played 28 times with two entirely different casts, "Tatters", the highly finished article, will be given at least four more times before they put away the sets. The occasion will be the peninsula's annual Golf Week. A bigger and an up-to-date olio is being prepared to go along with "Tatters", with more steam, more pretty girls, and more humor and song.

The cast of "Tatters" will be the same experienced one which appeared in the recent run with Jessie Joan Brown as the winsome Tatters, Gordon Knoles as the half-breed, Robert Ferris; Milt Latham, as the wealthy wastrel, father of Ferris; Billy Shepard as a ruffian squatter, and Bob Brass, Betty Bryant, Verne Williams, Del Page, Melba Hodges and others.

Replacing Bob Bratt as Abe Witherspoon will be Whipple Gregerson, who some time ago came over from Watsonville to join the Troupers. Featured in the olio will be the "naughty" can-can, once again the rage in dance revivals.

The little Hildebrand sisters will do a song-and-dance in the olio and Carol Jolce Hildebrand will be heard in "No! No! A Thousand Times No!"

Sunshine In the Valley Suggested as Means of Keeping Tourists Here

Peninsula residents are awakening to the fact that it is necessary to advertise sunshine in order to keep tourist trade. Many people come to the peninsula, find fog and leave in disgust, not knowing that the sun is only a few minutes away in the Carmel Valley.

If tourists can be kept near at hand, they will come to town to do their shopping and when the weather is sunny they will stay in coast communities.

When disgruntled visitors are seen packing their bags preparatory to leaving—just say "you can always find sunshine in the Carmel Valley." They will come back again and they will bring their friends.

NO FIRE DAMAGE IN JULY

Fire Chief Robert A. Leidig reported to the city that there were few calls, one grass fire, and no damage from fire in Carmel during the month of July. This proved an excellent record for one of the danger months of the year.

"Prison Without Bars", "Algiers" Are Billed for Filmarte Screen

Alexander Korda's "Prison Without Bars", which stars the sensational new discovery, Corinne Luchaire, returns to the Filmarte for two days starting tonight. The film tells the dramatic story of what happens when a modern woman, sympathetic and understanding, takes over the reigns of a brutally run girl's penal institution.

Edna Best plays the idealistic directress of the reformatory who insists on reforms and gains the respect of the girls confined in the institution. Among these girls is Suzanne (Corinne Luchaire), who is considered incorrigible by the rest of the staff. The sympathetic directress decides to give this "bad girl" a chance. Complications arise when Suzanne falls in love with the prison doctor, to whom the directress is already engaged.

Also on the same bill is Walt Disney's color cartoon, "Ferdinand the Bull."

The picture that gave the glamorous Hedy LaMarr her first English-speaking role opens a two-day run at the Filmarte Wednesday. "Algiers" is its title—Charles Boyer is its leading player, although the cast, besides Hedy, boasts another exotic, Sigrid Gurie. Hedy LaMarr was first seen in (and will always be remembered for) the Czechoslovakian symphony of celluloid, "Ecstasy." This is the picture that holds the all-time record for admissions sold in one day at the Filmarte. That was when the exciting LaMarr was known as Hedy Kiesler.

"Algiers" casts Boyer in the role of a devil-may-care international jewel thief, who takes refuge from the French police, by living in the Casbah, mysterious native quarter of Algiers where the law dare not intrude. Here he rules as king, idol of all the strange women of the quarter. Then one day there strolls into the Casbah, Hedy LaMarr, and meeting Pepe, a mad love develops. In the course of exciting adventures, Pepe's jealous native sweetheart betrays him to the police, and the story ends on a breathless surprise climax.

Leslie Howard in "Pygmalion" at Carmel Theater

"Pygmalion", film adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's stage farce, with Leslie Howard and the new screen find, Wendy Hiller, will play at the Carmel Theater Sunday to Tuesday. Howard is cast as an elocution professor who on a bet transforms a London guttersnipe into a duchess with hilarious consequences, both for himself and the girl.

The picture is unique in that it is the production which persuaded Shaw to change his mind regarding filming of his stage plays. Four years ago the playwright vowed he would never again part with the screen rights of any of his plays.

In prominent supporting roles are Wilfrid Lawson, who scored in the Broadway hit, "Libel", and Marie Lohr, one of London's best known character actresses.

Because so many of the words common in English usage are unfamiliar to their American cousins, two versions of the film were made, a practice already common in Hollywood for some time, where alterations are often made in dialogue which is considered too American to be understood by English audiences. "Pygmalion" was filmed in England.

Chevalier Seen In French Play at Filmarte

The deft, sophisticated charm of Maurice Chevalier, too long missing from the screen, can be seen again at the Filmarte starting Sunday, for three days, in the French-language production, "With a Smile."

For the first time in years a picture provides the saucy Maurice with a vehicle for the employment of his remarkable talents. It is a gay, satirical, and completely amoral story of a young man who uses a smile and a gift for blackmail to lift himself to success. It could never be done in Hollywood—as long as Mr. Hayes continues as czar.

Chevalier plays the role of Victor Larnois, who cheats, steals other men's jobs, resorts to blackmail, and uses anyone and everyone to further his own ambitions. But he always does it with a smile, and therein lies the film's attractiveness. For although Victor is completely unscrupulous, he is so sincerely unscrupulous and at the same time so charming about it that you cannot really get angry with him. We don't see Victor being punished for his sins; when last seen he is riding merrily on his way, probably to the president's palace.

Absolutely assisting Chevalier is Marie Glory, a cute and ingratiating actress somewhat reminiscent of Simone Simone. The star doesn't appear as an entertainer, but makes the most of an occasion in which he shows a girl how to interpret a song with all types of audiences.

"With a Smile", is completely translated from the French.

ORDINANCE NO. 470

An Ordinance Amending Ordinance No. 377

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Monterey, State of California, do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Section 1 of Ordinance No. 377 of said County is hereby amended by the addition thereto of an additional paragraph to be designated Paragraph 28a, which shall read as follows:

"Paragraph 28a. Kitchen. Any room all or any part of which is designed, built, equipped, used or intended to be used for the preparation of food and the washing of dishes, or either of them, whether or not said room contains a cookstove or any other cooking appliance; provided, however, that in a main dwelling a dining room or an alcove adjacent to a dining room or kitchen and in which toasters, grills, percolators and similar appliances are used, shall not be deemed a kitchen. It is the intent of this definition to make it possible to prevent the cooking or preparation of meals in, or the creation of, what to all intents and purposes is a kitchen in a guest house when such is prohibited. It is also the intent to make it possible to prevent what to all intents and purposes are more than the permissible number of kitchens in a residence."

Passed and ordered published by the following vote this 7th day of August, 1939, to-wit:

Ayes: Supervisors Hutchings, McHarry, Redding, Dudley and Jacobson.

Noes: None.

Absent: None.

Bulk Sales Notices Must Be Published Under New State Law

Greater protection to creditors is given in a bill just signed by Governor Culbert L. Olson, requiring the publication of a notice when bulk sales, transfers or assignments of a stock in trade are made which are not in the regular course of business.

The law also requires publication of such a notice in the event of the sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage of the fixtures or store equipment of a baker, cafe or restaurant owner, garage owner, machinist, cleaner and dyer, or retail or wholesale merchant. Penalty for failure to record or publish is presumption that the transfer of ownership is intentionally fraudulent.

Effect of the law, an amendment to Section 3440, Civil Code, is to require one publication of the notice now required to be recorded concerning such sales. Publication shall be completed not less than two days before the date of the intended sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage and must be published within the township in which the sale takes place. The law is similar to one in Arizona where such notices of sale must be published once a week for three weeks in a weekly newspaper or for ten days in a daily.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Charles Lyon, is AB 48. It was signed by Governor Olson on June 6 and has become Chapter 422 of the Laws of 1939.

Since the legislature adjourned June 20, it will become effective on Sept. 19, which would be 90 days after adjournment.

The Carmel Pine Cone has the required blanks and can give information regarding publication. The Carmel Pine Cone is Carmel's official newspaper.

BUILDING INSPECTOR ADAMS GETS "BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY"

As usual, Building Inspector B. W. Adams will make his vacation this year a "busman's holiday." The council Wednesday granted him leave for Aug. 12-18, during which time he will attend the Association of Electrical Inspectors meeting. He will also be a delegate to the convention of the California State Firemen at Monterey.

Start on School Job In January Held Likely

Building a high school may be something like chasing a will-o-the-wisp—more than a year has passed since the chase first began—but the trustees are forging ahead just as briskly as ever and this week passed one more milestone along the way.

This was the order to Architect Charles Kump, Jr., to complete between four and six weeks' time, and it is fairly certain that WPA offices will require another six weeks in which to accept the application.

Such delays as are thus necessary will practically meet the deadline suggested by the trustees for a start on construction in January. Further delay, however, will mean that construction will be rushed if a start is made at any time later than January and the school to be occupied by August, 1940.

Under WPA arrangements formerly in vogue, temporary applications could be filed while details were worked out, thereby speeding up the process by several weeks, but this is no longer permissible.

That the purchase price of the land could be included in the WPA application was the belief of the San Jose WPA office, Kump reported at Monday morning's informal meeting with the trustees, especially as the site was purchased specifically for this project.

Regarding costs of building, trustees after this week's meeting, repeated that they were not spending anything more than is absolutely required, and that building costs will be kept strictly in line with available cash.

Available is the balance of the $165,000 from the sale of bonds, less the $31,000 for the Hatton Ranch school site of 22 acres. An additional $100,000 from WPA funds is hoped for to complete the underpass, estimated cost of which is $4000, tennis

Jury Trials Dropped from Court Calendar of Judge G. P. Ross

Carmelites were counting the days until they could witness once more a jury trial. One had been scheduled for the court of Police Judge George P. Ross for yesterday morning. The other had been set for Aug. 24.

Both were stricken from the calendar yesterday when Deputy District Attorney K. Y. Saperro moved for dismissal.

Lee Hellam, charged with speeding on Camino Del Monte, was to have been represented by Ralph O. Maron, defense counsel in the recent Bolin speeding case, in what promised for a time to become a second "Bolin trial."

It was determined on Wednesday afternoon, however, that visibility was such on Camino del Monte that the charge against Hellam could not have been upheld under provisions of the state law and on these grounds Saperro moved dismissal.

courts, etc., aside from the actual buildings.

Next meeting of the Carmel unified school board will probably be the regular meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 15, at 4 o'clock.

Here Evelyn Day calls attention to the dates of the Monterey County Fair to be held Sept. 14-15-16-17. Exhibitors include not only pig and pigeon fanciers, but also artists and craftsmen.

ADAMS IS COMPLIMENTED BY TRAVELING FHA AGENT

Carmel Building Inspector B. W. Adams was given a compliment this week by a visiting agent for the Federal Housing Administration who said that Adams' statistical breakdowns on Carmel housing made it possible for him to obtain details in 15 minutes which in other comparable cities had taken as much as three days to obtain. Adams has Carmel down in complete maps and figures which give almost any desired information with speed and accuracy.

To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Coast Lands Featured In Current Issue of Motor Land Magazine

Touring attractions of the coastal counties extending south from the San Francisco Bay area along the Camino Real and traversing the Mission Trails region are the subject of a featured article in the August issue of Motor Land, travel magazine published by the California State Automobile Association.

Written by Drew Hawsted, the article is entitled "Along Mission Trails" and deals with the old Missions as a series of dominant notes in an array of points of interest for the motor tourist.

The scope of the article is not limited to a review of the Missions but embraces a comprehensive summary of the scenic and recreational attractions of the coastal area from San Francisco to San Diego.
